several days speculation as to the secretaryship of the treasury has been suspended, but tonight it is revived, and Speaker Carlisle looms up as a bigger favorite than ever. An intimate friend of Mr. Carlisle told me a few moments

ROME, February 25-Another earthquake shock was felt in Nice this morning. The disturbance was slight. The following official list of killed and wounded has been prepared: Bajordo three hundred killed and wounded; Diano Mariana, two hundred and fifty killed and injured; Bressand fifty killed and thirty-six injured; Diano Castello thirty killed; Castellano thirty killed and many wounded. The number of persons killed is less than was supposed. It is estimated that in the province of Porto Maurizio five bundred and seventy were killed and one hur dred and fifty-six injured. In the province of Genoa thirty-four were killed and thirtyseven injured. Bajordo and Diano Mariana were the only places destroyed. Cervo was only partially damsged. Churches at Bajordo, Castellaro and Aurige were thrown down by the shock.

In the department of Var, walls of houses and churches were cracked. No lives were lost. At Nice and Cannes the panic is subsiding and inhabitants, who have been camping out, are returning to their homes. Yesterday's shock dislodged the arches of the cathedral church of the Conception at Nice.

On the Sunday following negroes collected at Eably's church, two miles from Graball, and were so much excited over the arrest of their fellows, who were accused of the killing, that they would not go into the church, but remained outside "carcusing" among themselves. They made threats that if the arrested negroes were not released within a certain time they would unite and massacre the whites. The whites in the neighborhood are out numbered about six to one by the blacks and are completely at their mercy. In consequence of these threats, the whites held a meeting and witness, as secretary of the meet-ing, telegraphed to the sheriff at Breuham to send fifty men to protect the whites. Interstate Commissioner.

New York, February 25.—Ex-President Addrew D. White, of Cornell, says he has not leen tendered a place on the interstate commerce commission. President Cleveland had merely written to know if, under certain conditions, he might consider White's name in making up the commission. After consultation with friends Mr. White concluded that the upper fulfillment of the duties involved would conflict with the duties to which he was already pledged. There were no political considerations involved. It was simply a question as to what he ought and what he could do, personally. As a result, he telegraphed the president lately, thanking him for such a mark of his confidence, but declining to allow his f his confidence, but declining to allow his name to be used under any circumstances. NASHVILLE, Tenn., February 25 .- [Special.] It 9 o'clock this morning the jury, in Tom wens's case, filed in the criminal court room and upon being asked if they had agreed upon and apon consider they found the defend-ant "not guilty." Judge Ridley told Tom Owens that he was discharged and Tom left the railing a free man. The crime of which Owens was accused was being the accomplice of Meyer Moskovitz, in the murder of Meyer Friedman, on Saturday night, April 12, 1881, at the foot of the steps leading to Friedman's 100ms, over Arge's fish store, in Cherry street, in black bottom. Mrs. Friedman heard her husband's agonizing cry, and raising the window of her room, gave the alarm. Some men ran to open the door of the hallway and found a large rock propped against the door. By main force it was removed, the door broken down and Friedman found mortally wounded. He was terribly chopped up by a hatchet. The hatchet was identified as belonging to Mosko-vitz. Friedman died in a few days after he was so terribly butchered.

Two weeks before the crime was committed Moskovitz secured the release of Tom Owens who was confined at the county farm. Owens was taken by Moskovitz and given employ-ment. A DECISION ON THE BOYCOTT.

Judge Brown, of the United States Court,

Judge Brown, of the United States Court, on the Old Dominion Suit.

New York, February 25.—Judge Brown today in the United States circuit court handed down his decision in the suit of the Old Dominion Steamship company against John J. Mc-Kenna, James E. Quinn and others, of the Ocean association, on a motion to have the defendants discharged from arrest. Suit was brought to recover $20,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained by the company through the unlawful action of defendants in the recent strike of 'longshoremen and in their attempt to place a boycott on the company is its business as a common carrier. The defendants are cut on dail. The defense argued that the material facts in the complaint were furnished on information and belief only without particulars and that the defendants were acting within their legal rights.

Judge Brown reviews the charge and decides that the material points are stated positively and that the course of information are sufficiently indicated; that the facts stated in complaint and affidavits constitute a legal cause for action against all the defendants and he motion to discharge from arrest is denied. Judge Brown gives the following reasons:

1. The plaintiffs are engaged in the legal calling of common carriers, which requires the employment of numerous workness. When requires the employment of numerous workness, when requires the employment of the ompany, but in this city and in southern ports, to quit work in a hody to inflict damage upon the business of the company and was not justifiable; thereby, in law, was a malicio

In the fourth place Judge Brown goes on to to say:

Associations have no more right to inflict injuries upon others than individuals have. All combinations and associations, designed to coerce workmen to become members of or to interfere with, obstruct, vex or amoy them in working, or in obtaining work, because they are not members, or in order to induce them to become members or designed to prevent employers from making a just discrimination, the same paid to skillful and unskillful, to diligent and lazy—to efficient and inefficient, and all associations designed to interfere with the perfect freedom of employers in the proper management and control of their lawful business; or to dictate in any particular the terms upon which their business shall be conducted, by means of threats of injury or loss, by interference with their property or traffic, or with their lawful employment of other persons, or designed to abridge any of these rights, are filegal combinations or associations; and all acts done in furtherance of such intentions by such means and accompanied by damage, are actionable. There is no doubt concerning the plaintiff segal rights as should debar it from the usual remedy.

Beycotting a Conspiracy. HARTFORD, Coun., February 25.—The supreme court of Connecticut today rendered an important decision in the celebrated New Haven boycott case of State vs. Glidden and others, walking delegates, who undertook to enforce the boycott against the New Haven Journal and Courier for rejusing to discharge certain compositors. The superior court found them guilty of conspiracy, and the supreme court confirms the decision. This is the first case of the kind in the state.

Wireworkers on Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., February 25.—Seven hundred men employed in the American wire works struck last night at 8 o'clock. They made a demand for an advance of ten per cent in wages, and the refusal of the managers to grant it caused the strike. The strikers include the entire force of workmen.

HEWITT'S UNREAD LETTER.

Governor Hill Would not Speak If the Letter Governor Hill Would not Speak If the Letter was Read.

New York, February 25.—There is a vast deal of comment in political circles over the suppression of the letter written by Mayor Hewitt, and intended to be read at the banquet to Governor Hill Tuesday night, and Mayor Hewitt, is reported as highly indignant at the treatment secorded his communication by the officers of the Young Men's Democratic club. It is alleged that the mayor's letter created much comment among the committee of arrangements when it was received, but by a majority vote of 1, it was decided that it should be read. When Governor Hill heard of it, however, he declared, it is said, that if it it, however, he declared, it is said, that if it was read he would not speak at the dinuer. The letter was accordingly put aside by the members of the committee. The sentence to which objection was made followed a denunciation of the methods of some labor leaders. In effect it read: "And yet some democrats high in office have stooped to constant with high in office, have stooped to coquette with these methods to advance their own personal ends and political ambitions."

Mayor Hewitt when seen seemed surprised to learn that his letter had been suppressed, and when told that it had been construed as and when told that it had been construed as an attack upon Governor Hill, he said that his relations with the governor were of a pleasant character and he hoped they would

Burning of a Large Candy Manufactory—Losses and Insurance.

Baltimobe, February 25.—Shortly before 7 o'clock this morning, the six-story iron front and side warehouse of Darby & Co., candy manufacturers at Baltimore and Howard streets, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was sounded, but within twenty minutes all the walls had fallen. A four-story building in the rear, also occupied by Darby & Co., was destroyed. There were several hundred-persons employed in the building, a larger part of whom were females, but the fire fortunately occurred a few minutes, before the time for them to go to work, and three or four persons who had reached the building narrowly escaped. So intense was the heat from the burning building that all the plate glass windows and doors on the opposite side of Howard street, in the warehouse occupied by Cook, Horner & Co., plumbers' supplies, were broken. The damage to Darby & Co., on buildings and stocks, is now estimated at upwards of $200,000, nearly all of which is said to be covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated from a gas jet in the cellar.

Shot in Defense of Her Babe.

CINCINNATI, February 24.—A horrible murder was committed on Mount Adams, this city, between 9 and 10 o'clock. It was that of Mrs. Matilda Warren by Edward Jordan, a drunken desperado. Mrs. Warren'sdaughter was trundling her finant sister in a baby wagon on the ridewalk in front of the house. Ed Jordan came along reeling drunk upset the baby wagon in the gutter and pushed the terrified little girl into the street. Mrs. Warren rushed out in defense of her babe, protesting as she went, against Jordan's brutality. The villian waired until she got within a few feet of him, then shot her through the lungs. She is not dead, but her wound is mortal. Jordan escaped.

A NEGRO WOMAN CONJURED AND DRIVEN INSANE.

A Strange Case -Colonel Rutherford's 'Funeral-The Fire Department Horses - A Handsome Press

-Colonel Harper's Opinions - A Sneak Thief-Other News From Mason.

MACON, Ga., February 25.-[Special.]-A strange case of voodoo superstition is going the rounds among the colored people of Fort Hawkins' Hill, East Macon.

It seems that a woman named Brown is the wife of a hard working man who does his best to support his family in a proper manner. Recently an additional heir appeared to claim a part of the Brown inheritance, and the ther was quite feeble for some weeks after the birth. Her husband sent her to Savannah where she spent some time with relatives and

Previous to her visit she had shown symptoms of a peculiar form of insanity, and it was thought that the visit would benefit her. She improved so rapidly that after a three weeks' visit she started home, much improved in health, both physically and mental'y. symptoms of insanity had disappeared, and her people thought her entirely cured.

Brown lives on Fort Hawkins hill, East Macoo. When the woman got off the train she was feeling very well, but as soon as she crossed the bridge on her way home, she became blind and dizzy, and the old symptoms of her malady returned.

The unfortunate woman was carried to her home, and grew constantly worse. After some time the violence of the symptoms were some-what abated, but on going to either door of her house she feels a return of the blindness and dizzy feelings, and every time she comes to the threshold, she is attacked with terrible symptoms of insanity.

The services of a voudoo doctor were called in, and on making an examination of the premises he discovered under the doorstep, a "conjure ball" of some sort, and he pronounces it a case of "conjuring."

The poor woman can obtain no relief, and her case is a pitiable one. As to the "conjure" theory it is but another instance of the prevailing superstitious credulity of this people.

COLONEL RUTHERFORD'S FUNERAL.

Borne to the Grave By His Former Associates.

Macon, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—The funeral of Colonel John Rutherford occurred at the First Baptist church this afternoon, at half past three o'clock, Rev. Dr. E. W. Warren The first plan was to convey the corpse to

Milledgeville for interment in the old Ruther-ford burial ground. Owing to other circum stances, that prevented the carrying out of the programme. The old lawyer was conveyed to his last resting place, in Rose Hill cemetery, by a long procession of old friends and associates of his earlier days. notice was sent around among the members of the bar, requesting that they attend the fu-neral in a body. Among the pall bearers were five of his profession, who have been thrown in contact with him, in the daily transactions of the profession, for many years. These were Judge W. A. Lofton, Hon. A. O. Bacon, Hon. Clifford Anderson, Colonel J. J. Gresham and Colonel R. S. Lauier. The younger gentlemen who officiated in the same espacity, were Messrs. Washington Dessau, Joseph Holland, R. W. Patterson.

The services were conducted in a very appropriate manner by Dr. Warren. The funeral was conducted by Messrs. Wood & Bond. Colonel Rutherford's widow was a Miss Hurlburt, a Connecticut lady. Other relatives were present at the funeral.

COLONEL HARPER'S OPINIONS

On the Recent Mineral Boom Inaugurated in North Georgia.

MACON, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—Colonel C. M. Harper, of Rome, Ga., was in the city last evening, and paid a short but very pleasant call to The Constitution headquar-

When asked about the Etowah boom, and the general outlook in north, Georgia mineral development, Colonel Harper expressed himself as very sanguine of the success of the recently organized mineral and land companies in that portion of the state. Colonel Harper in that portion of the state. Colonel Harper thinks that there is no question about the existence of iron ore in that section in paying quantities. The coal, limestone and manganese are all there, and the fauds for mining and developing them are all that have heretofore been lacking. The original company, of which Colonel Harper was a member, were confident that there was allotty of money in the scheme and even respectively. plenty of money in the scheme, and even realized some money by mining manganese and shipping the crude ore to the west, but they were unable to prosecute the work, and very patriotically sold out their claim to the present company who have the means to keep the good work going. There is no doubt bu that this original company did a noble work in so advertising the undeveloped resources of that portion of the state, that men of enter-prise, with capital at their back, were induced to invest in the hill country of Georgia. Colonel Harper thinks this is only the small be-ginning, a glorious work of development.

IT IS NOT FROST.

The Deserted Wife Still Without a Husband.

Macon, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—Seeing in the columns of The Constitution, of February 13, an account of a possible solution of the disappearance of Charles Frost, in the discovery of a dead body in the Oconee river, induced the two former wives and brothers in law of Frost to write to the wife he described here, detailing a part of his past career. The young wife had been writing everywhere to find him, and Marshal Lingo, of Americus, ad-dressed her a letter stating that a man answering to the description had been working there abouts, and inclosing a scrap of paper signed "Charles Corley." These clues induced Detective Jones and Chief Wiley to investigate, and the result was the arresting of Charles ley Corley at Leesburg last evening. Your correspondent expressed his doubts as to whether he was the right man, but a sensational reporter published a long account of the matter in a local paper today, and expectation was on tip-toe. Detective Jones went down to Leesburg this morning and returned tonight without his man. He says that though the resemblance is strong, that the man is Corley, and not Frost. The young wife here his grieved terribly over the matter, but has hoped all day that the mystery was solved, but is nted again

Miss Lathrop, the temperance lecturer, addressed a fair audience a the Academy of Music tonight on the subject of temperance. A HANDSOME PRESENT

Received by Jere Hollis From R. J. Pow ell.

MACON, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—Colonel R. J. Powell, of Barnesville, has presented Mr. Jere Hollis with a five-year-old Argyle bull. It is a very handsome animal, and Mr. Hollis is very proud of the gift. The Argyle breed of cattle originated in the highlands of Scot land, and from their hardy habits and dark color it is supposed that they are the descendants of that same tough breed of black cattle that were once the staple commodity of the highlands. These same cattle furnished the means of support for Rob Roy and the other Gallic outlaws of whom Walter Scott lovel to write. They are small in statue but very long-bodied and their flesh is excellent, and their milking qualities superior to many breeds of larger build. The little bay gelding that is for Chief Jones's use has been named "Sam Wescott," after our county sherifi, "Billy Davis," for Alderman Davis; "Tobe Connor," for Alderman Connor; "Bob Smith," for Alderman Smith; "Tom Butner," for Sanitary Inspector Butner, "Funch Blue," a magnificent animal, for Clerk Blue; "Daisy Price," a star-gazer, for our mayor, and "Charley Wiley," for Chief of Police Wiley. The two truck horses were without names until a caucus, consisting of two reporters and Chief Jones was held at Butner's stables this morning, and the outcome of its deliberations was to the effect that the two high steppers should be called "John two high steppers should be called "John Deitz" and "Manuel Isaacs," after these two POLICE PICKINGS, Work Among the Fakirs and Law Breakers of Macon.

MACON, Ga., February 25 .- [Special.]-Joe Boston has long been suspected of being a brazen thief. The police have had their weather eye peeled for Boston, and today Patrolmen Dumas and Forter paid a visit to Tybee, and finding Boston away they sent for him. When he arrived they aught him and found some brass journals evident ly purioned from the Macon and Western railroad shops, and around his house they found a quantity of the same stolen material. Joe was looked up and the Central railroad will prosecute him in the courts.

This morning Henry Lewis, a negro boy, who lives on Mr. J. M. Boardman's lot, stole a satchel from one of the ladies of the house, adding another to the list of charges against him. The police are to the list of charges against him. The police are watching for him.

Today the police brought in a ragged and barefoot boy who gave his name as Joe M. Crary, originally from Brooklyn, Ala. The boy seems to be an ignorant fellow with very little natural sense. He says that three years ago he was living with his uncle in Brooklyn, Ala. when the latter told him to leave and he left. Since then he has wandered over Georgia and Florida, finally arriving here from Cuthpert today.

Mr. Cicero Long, formally of the Macon police force, has gone to Atlanta in search of business. He has a good job there with a bank concern, and his friends here wish him all sorts of success.

THE PHI-KAPPAS.

The Sixty-seventh Anniversary of the Society Celebrated.

ATHENS, Ga., Februarry 25.—[Special.]—The Phi Kappa society of the university celebrated Its sixty-seventh anniversary in the chapel of the university this morning. The anniversary was to have been celebrated last Tuesday, the 22d, but was postponed until today on account of inclement weather. Mr. E. C. Konts, of Atlanta, was the anniversarian. He took as his subject the sentence: "I serve." He handled it well indeed. Quite a large audience were present, and everybody was highly pleased The Phi Kappas can congratulate themselves on having such an excellent speaker. After the public anniversarian's speech, the society repaired to their hall, when the private anni erssrian, Mr. T. R. R. Cobb, delivered an ad-ress. His speech was excellent; was listened to by a large audience of Phi Kappas, many of whom were alumni of the university.

THE ROME POSTOFFICE.

Several Much Needed Improvements Made by the Postmaster.

ROME, Ga., February 25 .- [Special.]-Mr. W H. Adkins, who was recently appointed post-master, has made several much needed improve-ments in the Rome postoffice, which greatly faciliate the handling of the mail, and the work in the money-order department. He is giving our people a very efficient service, and general satisfaction is expressed at his ap-pointment. It is proposed to consolidate the DeSoto postoffice with that of Rome, (DeSoto now being the fourth ward of Rome, (Desoto now being the fourth ward of Rome) and take a census of the city, which, it is believed will show a population of ten thonsaud, thus entitling Rome to the free delivery system. Postmaster Adkins contemplates other improvements, being determined to give Rome a first-class postal service.

CHAPMAN'S CHARGES.

WHAT CAPTAIN O'FARRELLHASTO SAY ABOUT THEM.

Declares That He Was Bounced Without Know-ing the Reason Why—The Republican Office-holders Actively at Work to Embarras Collector Crensbaw's administration.

ATHENS, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—To-day the Banner-Watchman met Captain James O'Farrell and asked him what he thought of the revenue controversy. Mr. O'Farrell said he was astonished that Mr. Chapman had brought his name into the controversy between him and Collector Crenshaw, and that he was not aware up to this time of any antagonism existing between the collector and Revenue Agent Chapman. As to the charge of "dupli-city" on Collector Crenshaw's part, he was unprepared to give evidence.

NEVER KNEW THE REASON WHY. Mr. O'Farrell claims that he was removed from the revenue service as deputy collector upon general charges forwarded to Washing-ton, and although he had demanded specifica tions of the general charges, he had never been able to procure them. He had never had a chance to make proper answer to them. Mr. O'Farrel says he holds letters from democratic appointees indorsing his character and efficiency while in the service, and during the time made in the general charge which he thinks would satisfy all good democrats in the state. THE CHAPMAN CHARGES. Mr. O'Farrell, upon being asked by the Banner-Watchman for his opinion of the charges made in the Crenshaw-Chapman controversy, said that he was impressed, from what he had seen while in the service, that all of the old republican appointes were thoroughly organized and in sympathy, and mentioned ar instance in Brunswick, in which republicans holding office under a democratic president, turned out and worked openly for the republican candidate for mayor of the city. Chapman is the revenue agent appointed by the commissioners at Washington, and the republican anpointe has held ever since Grant's administration. He is charged with crippling the service by antagonizing Collector Crenshaw's appointes, and Captain O'Farrell is inclined to believe that this is true.

Woods White and Pete Lawshe Clinch in Athens, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—The talk of the town is the encounter between Messrs. Woods White, of Atlanta, and Pete Lawshe. These gentlemen are the agents of rival life insurance companies, and each one grows elegant in advocacy of his favorite. rival life insurance companies, and each one grows eloquent in advocacy of his favorite. Both gentlemen struck town about the same time, and at first spoke as they passed by. Their views soon clashed, however, and mutually offensive opinions are said to have been exchanged. They finally met in Dearing's store, and there the difficulty was renewed. Lawshe, who held in his hand a cudgel, ran at White with it. White retreated to the side White with it. White retreated to the side walk, where he picked up a stone, as he says, to keep Lawshe off. The latter still advanced and struck White a blow which caused him to drop his spectacles. In this dilemma, White had to desist, and the timely arrival of others put an end to the fight.

The Case Was Settled.

Acworth, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—A few days ago one of the most unattractive women your reporter ever saw appeared before the justice of the peace, of this district, and applied for and obtained a warrant against a prominent citizen and officer of an adjoining county for bastardy. Yesterday the woman reappeared before the same J. P., accompanied by accused gentleman, and stated she desired aissed and the case settled, that she had been forced to make the case and the accused would pay the cost. Upon this showing the J. P. agreed to the settlement.

To Sue for Damages. To Sue for Damages.

Athens, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—Mr.
J. H. Dorsey has employed lawyers and brought suit for damages against Mr. Fair, the Winston,

Beware of Scrofula

Scrotula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Barsaparilla expels all trace of scrotula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrotula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Barsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOT, LOWEL, Mass.

At a meeting of the Florida Fruit Growers' association, held in Orlando, it was recommended that a sub-tropical exposition be held at some convenient point each year, commencing in December and holding open till March, all the counties to be invited to take part. The farmers complain about the low price of sea island cotton. They say it has been selling at such prices that it is unprofitable to grow it. It is thought that this industry has been overdone, and that the supply exceeds the demand. The acreage of cotton should be reduced, and a few acres put in tobacco would be profitable if properly cultivated.

The South Florida exposition, at Orlando, was certainly far shead of any fair ever held in any southern state. It was a grand success as to the number and quality of the displays. Its financial success was beyond the most sanguine expectations. Fully 15,000 people visited the grounds. The State Agricultural society, Nurserymen and Fruit Growers' associations met in joint meeting to confer as to the advisability of sending the displays to Chicago, and there give another exhibition to show Fiorida's capabilities.

The wound was considered necessarily fatal, and no doubt he is dead. Citizens took Richards, and in spite of the request of Upchurch, executed him. President Cleveland's veto of Congressman Lonham's little bill appropriating $19,000 to buy seed for the drouth sufferers causes much comment. The Taylor county News, which is strictly democratic, speaks of it as an act of a pig-headed bigot. Others say the act is strictly democratic, and wonder why Coke, Reagan and the other Toxas congressmen who, under the general welfare clause of the constitution, voted against the broad and general measure known as the Biair educational bill, would under the same constitutional clause, support this little, narrow, local measure. With a broader business policy than has characterized any other southern corporation, we have steadily appreciated the relative value of land and people. We are holding for our own profit certain lands to be sold in the future. The balance is offered from the sold in the future. The balance is offered from time to time; a line of seven boats pir regularly between St. Andrew's Bay and other ports; and, altee ether, the outlook promises that St. Andrew's Bay and other ports; and, altee there, the outlook promises that St. Andrew's Bay was the home of many wealthy people who had sought the shores of the beautiful bay as a location where could be found in their highest perfection the peculiar delights of a Florida home. During the war the town was bombarded by a federal fleet, and nearly swept out of existence. The inhabitants fled, abandoning their shattered homes to the torch shid pillage of the enemy, and not until about ten years ago was there any attempt made to roccupy the town. This company began active operations at little more than a year ago. Since that ime there has been the most remarkable "boom" created for St. Andrew's Bay that has ever seem known in the flower state. PRESIDENT GREENE SMITH, of the Indiana senate, is the man to succeed Grav as the next governor of that state, and if the Indiana democrats don't elect him to the place they will not display the same commendable qualities that enabled them to elect Turpie to the senate. Poor Fay Templeton is having trouble in London about her dresses. The lord chamberlain potified her manager that her attire was too scant, and she was told to put on a sash. Such an amount of wearing apparel was too much for the gay little creature and she slipped it on the sly. The matter went to the courts and the judge decided to dismiss the injunction against her appearing as she did, as he was not sure, in these desperate days, that a contrary decision would be detrimental to the career of the actress.

THE bill of Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, for absolute free trade between the United States and Canada is approved by the Toronto Mail, which says that the measure "would meet with the approval of the vast majority of Canadians." No doubt Canada pictures a glorious future in the vision of Mr. Butter worth, and this is just the reason why his scheme will not be favorably received in this country. On such questions it is better to be controlled by our own interests than the voice of foreign counsel, whose benefit would be our disadvantage.

THE coast defense boom promised much but achieved but little at the hands of the present congress. There is but little chance, it any, of the senate bills passing the house except the fortification bill now in confer ence, and which is reduced to $10. 000,000. Thus the vast ideas of the senate as regards preparations for coast defense, lack much of materialization, though if each succeeding congress for the next fev years does as well as the present, it will not be many years before our coasts are amply protected in case of attack from a foreign

In the platform of the labor congress of Cincinnati, supposed to have been written by Henry George, several grave inconsist-encies occur. It demands that the Indians shall be removed from the lands which they occupy, in order to make room for the whites. Although the Indians hold their lands in common, according to the George idea, the platform insists that they shall hold it in severalty, the very system which George so strongly condemns. If George go to work and earn a few acres, h might learn more sense and become a more useful member of society.

THE army of pension claim agents, who would have fattened on the pickings, had the president signed the disability pensi bill, are the most distressed at his failure to do so. Had the bill become a law this vast army would have been more benefitted by its provisions than would have the men for whom the country is willing to be taxed On this subject the New York Commercial

Advertiser says : It is an open secret now-in fact it hardly de serves to be called a secret at all—that the opposi-tion to the president's pension veto is inspired and stimulated almost entirely by the claim agents and pension atterneys of Washington. These en terprising gentlemen are in close league with some of the active pension cranks in congress, and are frightening and buildoring numbers of the more timid and less conspicuous members. It is hard to believe that their efforts can prevail. The idea of a congress of the United States being run by a gang of claim agents is still more humiliating than that of a New Jersey legislature being bought up by political gamblers, or New York city governed

Cleveland and Hill.

In a recent issue of the New York Sun the editor instituted a comparison between President Cleveland and Governor Hill, of New York. The Sun begins its remarks in this fashion. "Mr. Cleveland has been president a little less than two years, and Mr. Hill has been governor a little more than two years. In that time, Mr. Cleve land has lost in popularity with his party, and Mr. Hill has gained steadily, quietly and greatly." This brief extract will serve to give the reader an idea of the nature and purpose of the Sun's editorial.

Now, there is but one way in which the democratic friends of Mr. Cleveland can meet such a statement as this, and that is to inquire in what part of the country Mr. Cleveland has lost popularity. It is true that Brother Watterson is not a very cordial supporter of the president, but the democrats of the country are no more influenced by the whims and fancies of Brother Watterson than they are by the predictions of the brigadier general who has charge of the weather bureau.

The Sun has always been opposed to Mr Cleveland and it is natural that it should view him with a critic's eye; but we think it would be difficult-impossible, indeed, for Mr. Dana to show that the presi dent has lost ground in any part of the country, least of all in New York state.

The New York Star, however, which is in the unfortunate predicament that follows a constant effort to become a personal organ, grows quite indignant and seeks to make Governor Hill a party to the Sun's assault on the president. We have witnessed a good many blunders, some of them good natured and others quite the contrary, but we have never seen a more unfortunate piece of political writing than the Star's comment on the Sun's editorial. Instead of making a manly and straightorward reply, the editor of the Star proceeds to make an uncalled for attack on Governor Hill, with the intention, apparently, of holding him responsible for the Sun's editorial. A sillier or a more untimely piece of writing was never concocted. The Sun attacks Mr. Cleveland, the Star attacks Governor Hill, and between the two democratic harmony is left to take care of itself.

Well, it can take care of itself. Every true democrat in the country respects both President Cleveland and Governor Hill. They have both done their duty; they have both acted in accordance with their convic tions and the democratic party can well afford to applaud the actions of both. Governor Hill himself, in spite of the superserviceable criticisms of the Star, gives his unequivocal indorsement to the administration of the president, and there is no doubt in our minds that Mr. Cleveland would as heartily indorse Governor Hill. Both are good democrats and both are popular with the party.

Reeves languished in jail, unable to give bail, until his patience was worn out Then he turned upon Kemp and had him arrested for stealing money from the cash drawer. Reeves says that Kemp maliciously and falsely charged him with arson, and Kemp states that Reeves trumped up the charge about the stolen money simply to get even with him. It is rumored that Kemp will shortly make affidavit that Reeves is th Nathan murderer, but it is also understood that Reeves is preparing to have Kemp in dicted as a dynamiter. When the two get through with each other the debris will re semble the results of a Kilkenny cat fight.

How They Settled It.

From the Houston, Tex., Post. A man by the name of Gibson, who lives i Falls county, went to Marlin and got full. He wa arrested for drunkenness and the usual fine im-cosed by Mayor William Shelton. The man told the mayor that he had only a few dollars, and his family needed it very badly. He wanted to know if he could not submit to a whipping and be allowed to keep his money. The mayor told Mr. Gibson that his cost was $3.70, and he would take that amount "out of his hide." "How many will that amount "out of his hide." "How many will you strike me?" said Mr. Gibson. The mayor said ten. This was agreed upon, but Gibson refused to strip. His honor took a board, and bending Gibson over a chair proceeded to take out his cosis. The city marshal then offered to take out his costs the same way, but Mr. Gibson said no, and paid up and went home.

A Dogs Sense of Smell.

Careful experiments on the sense of smell in dogs have been made by George J. Romans, who has communicated the results to the Linnean soci ety, of London. He finds that not only the feet but the whole body of a man exhale a peculiar o individual odor which a dog can recognize, as that of his master amidst a crowd of other persons; that the individual quality of this ordor can be recognized at great distances to windward, or in calm weather at great distances in any direction; and that even powerful perfumes may not overethis odor. Yet a single sheet of brown pe when stepped upon instead of the ground and at terward removed, was sufficient to prevent Mr. Ro mans's dog from following his trail.—Exchange.

ECHOES FROM THE PEOPLE. Three Great Murders.

Subscriber, Oak Dale, Texas: Please give a synopsis of the Colt-Adams, Webster-Parkman and Maxwell-Brooks-Preller murder cases. Colt was a brother of the inventor of the Colt re-volver, and was in business in New York. He was indebted to a man and had not the means to pay him. One day his creditor called and they had an altercation in Colt's office, which was on second floor. It ended by the creditor being ki

Colt cut the body up into small portions, pe them into a box and directed it to a fictitious ad dress in Europe. He then hired a truckman and had him ship it under another false name on board a ship bound for Havre. The box was stowed in the lower hold of the vessel, and was soon cover by tons and tons of other freight. The vessel was a week or more completing her load, and when just about ready to sail sprang a leak. In order to get at it it was necessary to unload her. In doing so the stevedores were nearly overcome by a terrible stench. At length they reached the box. from which it emana ted. It was opened, when a ghastly sight present ed itself. An investigation ensued, the truckma who had hauled the box to the ship came forward who had nature told where and from whom he had got it, and C was arrested and tried for murder. The eviden against him was wholly circumstantial neverthele. he was convicted and hung for the crime. The execution of the law's manda@ took place in the morning, and just as it did the steeple of the old city hall, in New York, took fire and there was a great time putting out the flames. It was charged by some that Colt, who had very rich and influen nds, was permitted to escape in the confu that a body procured for the purpo from a hospital was hung in his place. Of course there was no foundation for this absurd story, yet, to this day, it is current in certain quar-ters of Gotham, and every now and again some one ayers that he has seen Colt in Texas or somewhere The celebrated killing of Parkman by Dr. Wel ster, in Boston, was, in certain of its features, anal ogous to the murder by Colt. Dr. Webster was in debt to Parkman, who called on him to dun him in ms at Harvard Medical college, where he was a professor. They quarreled over the matter and Webster killed him. To avoid being detected he cut up the body into small portion; and these he burned in the grate which warmed his room. He thought he had desiroyed every vestige of the remains, but Parkman being missed and traced to Webster's apartments, an investigation resulted in anding in the ashes one of the dead man's teeth which had been operated on by a dentist. On this slender thread the detectives took hold of the case and soon, by wholly circumstantial evidence fixed the crime on Dr. Webster. The high social standing of the doctor and his victim made the case a celebrated one. The trial was one of the most interesting known to the annals of crime. Every effort was made on behalf of Webster which wealth or legal shill could suggest, but he was found guilty and hung.

The Maxwell-Brooks Preller case, at the Southern hotel in St. Louis, a couple of years ago, must be still fresh in the memory of all. Both were young Englishmen who came to this country toyoung Englishmen who came to this country to-gether. Preller was a business man-a drummer and Brooks was impecunious. They met in St Louis, and finally Brooks disappeared. A few days thereafter a body was found dismembered in a trunk in his room. Then it was ascertained that several patrons of the house had heard moans and low groans issuing from it a week or so before.
They thought that they came frem some one who was sick, and paid no further attention to them. Brooks was traced to San Francisco, and from thence to New South Wales, where he was appre hended and brought back to this country. He was tried in St. Louis, found guilty of murder, and sen-tenced to be hung. He is now under reprieve, but there is little doubt that the sentence of death will be executed on him. His defense was that he wa performing a surgical operation on Preller, and had given him an anesthetic, from the effects of which he died. He cut the body up and packed it into the trunk, because, being a stranger, he feared that his version of the cause of death would not be believed. Mrs. Kate Chase and Her Daughters.

BOUL'ANGER.

What the Great Frenchman Has Ac plished for His People.

The apprehension of an early war between Germany and France has never been strong among those persons in Washington who are best informed on the situation. Members of the German and French legations have discussed the matter over their suppers and wine in the mos friendly manner, and on both sides it has been conceded at all periods of the recent scare that there was no immediate danger of a fight. It did not require Bismarck's triumph in the recent elections to assure those who know the real position and intentions of these two great powers that there would be no war-that is just now.

An intelligent French gentleman told me the other day that he believed the war feeling in France had been worked up by General Boula for his own aggrandizement. Boulanger is amb knows the French character well enough to under One is its inherent love of martial glory; and the other is its intense hatred of Germany. these passions the shrewd general has pandered by establishing a grand army of over half a milli men, and supplying it with the most superb mil tary equipment on earth. My friend assures me that the present French artillery is the best that was ever seen in any army.

Boulanger has accomplished his purpose. He is the idol of the French masses who regard him as the man destined to avenge Sedan and to wipe out the shame of Metz. While he has brought a terrible expense on France he has driven Germany to a policy of costly preparation; and Germany car not afford a financial strain so well as France. Thus, while he has made himself with his own na tion, he has embarrassed his enemy and awakened discord among his people. Boulanger, my French friend thinks, has fought a bloodless battle for fame and power and has come out victor. He may ecome president of France. At any rate, he ha acquired a hold on the popular heart which will make him a powerful factor in French politics. Without any military record worthy the name he has achieved the fame of great military leader. If he were to die tomerow there are thousands of Frenchmen who would piously revere his memory as that of the greates soldier who has appeared in France since Bor parte. Boulanger is absolutely untried as a com mander of large military forces in actual war, and nobedy knows how he would stand such a test. His genius for arrangement, his skill in the equip ment of great forces, and his appreciation of the science of modern ideas of warfare are admitted but beyond this nobody knows what the man is ca pable of. He has proved himself to be a splendid dress parade general, and perhaps a smart politi cian, but that is all. If Boulanger's career were cut short by death just at this time he would pass into French history as a great man. If he lives may be remembered only as a failure. It is to the incalculable advantage of Germany that her civic and military affairs are dominated by men who have demonstrated their capacity. They are veterans grown gray in the service o the state through long years of active toil, of heroic endurance and of grand achievements. The Ger mans know what Bismarck and Von Moltke car

Think of the swift rise of this man Boulan He came to the United States with the French offi cers four years ago to attend the Yorktown center nial. He was not the most conspicuous figure in the group of visitors then. He drank our cham pagne and attended our receptions and went home without creating the impression that we were en-tertaining the future idol of France. It has been hardly twelve months since his name began to be familiar outside of France. A year ago the news papers began to publish pictures of him and to tell who and what he was. His rise has been marvelously rapid; his future is perilously problematical.

I am surprised to find that nine out of every ten of the people whom I have asked about the proba de result of a war between Germany and France have named France as the winner. In most in stances I suppose the answer is influenced by the sympathy of one republic with another, intensified by that admiration for dashing soldiery which i strong in the impulsive breasts of our people. One of the exceptions to this rule I encountered in a veteran army officer who served with distinctio n the war with Mexico, and then became a famou major general in the confederate service. When I asked his opinion as to the issue of a struggle be tween Germany and France, he said: "Germany whipped France easily in 1870. Ger many can whip France in 1887, but the next time it will be worse for the victim, for it will be a harder and Litterer war."

After, all there may be silent influences of which the world knows little, which are working poies of the great Baron Rothchild is in point. Thirty-five or forty years ago when the alarm ists predicted a 'general European war, a nervous statesman, one day, rushed into the baron's office n a state of great agitation. He said: "We are going to have a war, a terrible war!" The financier, who was writing at his desk, with ut litting his pen or looking up replied, "No we shall have no war." "But it is inevitable," cor tinued the statesman, growing more excited by reason of the baron's coolness, "I have just seen three members of the cabinet who assure me that war will be declared within a week." "No," replied Rothchild, "there is not going to "No," replied Rothering, they be any war. I won't let them have the money."

A hard wind prevailed all night. The mail train west on the Boston and Lowell road reached here at 9 c'clock last night, and is still here waiting for the road to be cleared. It is said there is fifteen miles of road west of here upon which the snow is from five to twenty feet deep. The highways of the hills are nearly impassable.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., February 25.--[Special] BIRMINGHAM, Ala., February 25.—[Special] General E. P. Alexander, president of the Georga Central railroad, arrived in this city this morns accompanied by General A. R. Lawton, atterney of the road, and Messrs. Vetzburg, Blum and Pat Calhoun, directors. General Alexander's business the city was to secure additional terminal facilities for the Goodwater extension, and after looking around the city for a while, he purchased of the Elyton Land company ten acres of land on Twentyninth street and Ninth avenue. General Alexander and Dr. Caldwell, president of the Elyton Land company, declined to make public the price paid for the property.

We cannot connect at Newnan, because that would take business from the Atlanta and West Point road, which is part of our system. There is little doubt but what we will extend the road to Griffin at once. Only a few months will be required to complete the work, and we will probably begin in a short time."

General Alexander reports work progressing favorably on the Goodwater extension. Locomo-tives have been purchased. The party returned to Atlanta tonight.

THE NIWS IN SAVANNAH. SAVANNAH, Ga., February 25.—[Special.]—
The report that the Central has determined to build a road from Greenville to East Point is a mistake, if not a canard. The directors of the Central, who were in Savannah this morning, were astonished at such fan incredible and senseless statement. No extension of the road from Columbus in the direction of Atlanta has been discussed even. Such extension would be nearly paralleling the Atlanta and West Point, which is underlease to the Central for nearly a century is underlease to the Central for nearly a century still. The Central owns the road to Greenville. and by building sometwenty-five miles to Newman it would obtain an air line to Atlanta from Co it would obtain an air line to Atlanta from Col-umbus over the lines owned and leased by itself. But even this extension has not been proposed in the directory as yet. President Alexander, with two of his directory, Blunn and IVatsburg, are in Birmingham. Belknap, the new superintendent and four other directors, Green, Wilde and Garnett of Savannah, and Hollings, of New York, left touight for a trip, over the South tonight for a trip over the South Carolina branch. It is possible that parties who are after Atlanta and West Point stock started the report of an extension, but it is more probable that the rumor originated in error. The language in the Savannah News, that an extension to East Point would tap there the Atlanta and West Point, shows the erroneous character of the report, as the Central road runs from East Point to Atlanta and is utilized by the Atlanta and West Point, THE NEWS IN COLUMBUS. COLUMBUS, Ga., February 25.-[Special.]-The officials of the Columbus and Rome railroad in this city say that they know nothing about the intention of the Central railroad authorities to ex-tend the Columbus and Rome to Atlanta and make it a broad gauge. They have had no instruction to prepare for work at once. The Road Is Coming. STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga., February 25 .- [Speial.]-The surveying corps of the Georgia, Caroina and Northern railroad are making fine progress. Their camps are located five miles this side of Loganville and thirteen miles from Stone Mountain. It is pretty generally understood that they are locating the line as they go. The citizens of Stone Mountain are still confident the line will be located by here.

REQUIRED TO GIVE BOND

Johnson, a Decatur Street Wineroom Man, in Police Court.

C. P. Johnson, the winercom man at No. Decatur street, was arraigned in police court yet-terday morning and required to give a two hun-dred dollar bond for assault and battery. Johnson was charged with disorderly conduct Johnson was charged with disorderly conduct. Several days ago a case was made in police court against him charging him with violating the prohibition law. A day or two later the case was tried and dismissed for want of evidence. Since that time Johnson has been continuing his lousiness and has been decidedly watchful and careful. Night before last A. M. Turner, a young man extensively known in Atlana, was on Decatur street near the saloon and passed away a few minutes walking up the street. While Turner was taking While Turner was taking his promenade some one entered the whieroom and informed Johnson that Turner was watching his place with a view to reporting him if a chance presented itself. The information made Johnson very mad and going out upon the sidewalk asked. Turner what he was doing. Turner replied and in a short time the two men became involved in a quarrel. The quarrel resulted in a fight, in which Turner was used up pretty badly. The difficulty was reported Patrolman Cochrane and Hudson, who arrested both parties and booked them for disorderly conduct. When the cases were called in police court yesterday morning. Judge Anderson decided from the evidence adduced that Johnson had made an uncalled for assault upon Turner, and that Turner was in no way to blame. He dismissed the cases against both men and then asked Johnson to give a bond to the city court in the sum of $200 for an assault and battery. Johnson gave the bond and was released.

Soon after the case was disposed of in police court Turner was arrested on a warrant charging him with cheating and swindling.

Artillery Last Night.

The Atlanta Artillery convened in regular weekly meeting last night at their quarters, No. 55% South Broad street. Quite an interesting session was had and great interest was displayed. There was a full attendance.

As an instance of the popularity of the company, a great many applications for membership are made weekly, but, while the members do not claim to be select in their choice of candidates, or reserved, great care is exercised in admitting to membership the many who apply.

A ballot was taken on a number of applications last night, and several active and pay members were elected.

The resignation of Mr. A. I. Branham as third sergeant was read and accepted, and the election of his successor was entered into. The balloting was quite spirited, and the choice of the company finally fell upon Mr. W. B. Burke. Mr. Branham has moved to Savannah.

It was decided that the company meet at its quarters on Sunday morning in full uniform, except rabers, and march from there to the Third Presbyterian church, where Rev. N. Keff Smith, their chaplain, will deliver his first annual sermon.

commissioner Henderson senuthe following reply:

ATLANTA, February 25.—Mr. John 1. mart, Union Point, Ga.—Dear Sir.—Yours of the 24th relating to the disease prevailing among horses at White Plains received. The act establishing the department of agriculture gives no authority for the inspection or killing of animals affected with mailgnant contagious diseases.

No cure is known for glanders. The proper course to pursue in all cases where the disease is mown to exist is to kill all the animals that are affected with it. As it is not always easy to distinguish the disease from certain distemper with same similar symptoms, the epinion of an experience veterinary surgeon for the determination of the disease should be had. The disease manifests itself in two forms, either as an inflammation of the nose, lungs and glands of the throat or lower is, when it constitutes what is generally known aglanders, or it attacks the glands and other tisses of the legs and body, producing uleers and constituting the form of the disease known as farcy. The two forms of the disease often exist sparately, but usually symptoms of both characters will appear in the same case. The disease is contagious only by contact or inocculation. The diseabarge from the nostrils on the ulcers contain the virus, and so great is the vitality of this virus that it is said to produce the disease months and even a years after it is left on troughs or elsewhere by diseased animals. Animals suspected of having the disease should be isolvted, and where the disease is known to have been, stable troughs, etc., should be destroyed or carefully disinfected. I would gladly do anything in my power to aid indetermining the character of the disease for Mr. Yoss and to prevent its further spread, but, as you will see by reference to the act establishing the department of agriculture, there is no authority ganted to employing a veterinary surgeon for such purposes.

In view of the great importance of this subject I will ask you, as a member of the general assembly,

Mr. Wallace's death may occur before noon today.

Several months ago Mr. Wallace was seriously ill and came near dying and finally recovered and for awhile was upon the, streets. His health, however, was bad. He was, before his brillness, a tall, strong, magnificent specimen of man, and as he walked about the streets a few months ago weak and tottering, those who knew him in health were surprised.

Four months ago he disappeared from sight, and only those who knew him most intimately was aware that he was again sick in his room on Whitehall street. He continued to grow worse day by day, until at last his friends became satisfied that he could not last long. The attention he recived was necessarily imperfect, and a few days ago his friends sent him to St. Joseph's infirmary, where he could be cared for. The change, however, has not had any beneficial effect upon him, so far; on the contrary, he has continued to grow worse, and this morning at 2 o'clock was critically ill. His mind ap-effect upon him, so far; on the contrary, he has continued to grow worse, and this morning at 2 o'clock was critically ill. His mind appears to have given away entirely, and those of his old friends who now look upon him feel and, because of the great change that has taken place.

Mr. Wallace was a young man with a brilliant future before him a few years ago. He was finely educated and well read. He was a finent talker, a graceful speaker and an even writer. He was connected at various times with the Atlanta press and made quite a repuion as a writer.

REAL ESTATE.

What the Agents are Doing to Keep Up With the Demand, niries among the real estate men yester Inquiries among the real estate men yesterthy by a CONSTITUTION reporter revealed the pleasing fact that the tide which set in about three weeks ago is still full. Although the past four days have been inclement to the extent of preventing a general examination of vacant property, the business done is in keeping with that of any previous four days for the past three weeks. Plats of lots have been looked over at the offices of the agents and sakes made through that means. It appears that the only question taked by purchasers of the agents is as to the location of the property for sale, whether the lot is on the coraer, side, etc., when the purchase money is been the case during the recent rainy season.

handed over or the transfer made. Such has been the case during the recent rainy season.

A large amount of money made in Alabama and Tennessee has found its way to Atlanta for investment within the past few days. One notable case is that of a gentleman who bought ligely of mineral lands in the Birmingham district and who this week sold out his interests there to a New York syndicate and reinvested the proceeds in Atlanta dirt. The solidity of real estate in the city is not doubted by those who have the money to buy.

A Negro Escapes From the Police, but is Again Arrested-The Cause.

A Negro Escapes From the Police, but is Again Arrested—The Cause.

"I guess you had better crawl down to me or I'll have to send a bullet up that way at you," said Call Officer Thompson o a negro who had taken refuge from the police under a Houston street house, yesterday afternoon.

The negro was Jim Wyatt.

Two or three days ago Chief Connolly received a letter from the chief of police in Savannah, asking for the arrest of Wyatt. The letter described Wyatt and contained a warrant charging him with bigamy. Yesterday the chief ascertained that a negro answering the description and going by the name of Wyatt was working at Miller & Brady's livery stable. With Detective Bedford the chief called at the barn, and after learning from the proprietors that they had a negro named Wyatt, asked to see him. One of the gentlemen called Wyatt, who was then in the back end of the barn, and the negro started forward, but the instant he saw the police uniform he wheeled about and ran for life out the side door, through Patterson & Bowden's undertaking place. Chief Connolly started in pursuit, but the negro managed te clude him and made good his escape. The chief then communicated with police headquarters, and Call Officer Thompson started out to find the runaway. On Houston street, near Calhoun, he came in sight of the darky, and, letting his horse have the rein, was in the act of capturing him, when the darky ran into a yard. The officer sprang from his horse and on foot followed. The negro soon saw that he could not outruin the officer, and after skipping across two or three lots crawled under a house. The officer stooped down and called could not outrun the officer, and after skip-ping across two or three lots crawled under a house. The officer stooped down and called to the negro to come out, but he paid no atten-tion to the command. Finally the officer went down upon all fours and crawling under the house with pistol in hand, looked for the negro until he found him. The negro was se-creted in an upper corner, and pointing his pistol at him he ordered him to come down. The negro hesitated a minute and said.

The negro hesitated a minute and said: The negro hesitated a minute and said:
"Don't shoot, please, and I'll come."
The darky crawled down to the officer and then, side by side, the officer and his prisoner crawled out. Wyatt was conducted to the city prison and locked up, and a telegram was sent to Chief Anderson, of Savannah, who answered asking that the prisoner be held.

Rutgers College (the New Jersey State Scientific College) New Brunswick, N. J., July 7, 1885

Analyses and careful examinations of Cleveland's Superior and Royal Baking Powders enable us to bear testimony to the superiority of Cleveland's. It yields more carbonic acid gas than the Royal, and contains no ammonia salts, de Cleveland's Baking Powder is made of pure substances and is absolutely free from any kind of adulteration. We endorse it most cordially as an honest and efficient article, and one that will give entirely satisfactory results.

(EORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—TO THE SUPEly rior Court of said County: The petition of "Atlanta Marble company" shows that it was incorporated by said court on the 8th of Jannary, 1887, on the petition of William M. Lowry, [Francis M. Coker and others. That said petitioners were not aware when they made their application, nor when said order granting them a charter was passed, that a charter had previously been granted James P. Harrison, W. B. Miller and others as. The Atlanta Marble company," on the 30th of Jüne, 1886.
Petitioner shows that at a meeting of its incorporators and stockholders, held on 10th of February, 1887, after it had compiled with its charter and commenced business as"Atlanta Marble company," it was unanimously resolved that application should be made for change of name to "Ebony Marble company." Petitioner therefore prays that the word "Atlanta" be stricken in its corporate name, and its charter amended by substituting the word
"Ebony," so that the corporate name of petitioner may be "Ebony Marble Company."

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, February 25.—The stock market today, while on a higher plane than yesterday, was much less active, and other feverish fluctuations in most of the list were confined within extremely narrow limits. The news of the day was unimportant. The opening was somewhat irregular but generally firm, recording advances ranging up to gaper cent, after half an hour's activity. Trading for the rest of the forenoon was moderate with con-siderable weakness in early dealings, Richmond and West Point being prominent in the decline, Several slight advances were followed later by de-clines of the entire list, but in the last hour strength in Erie preferred checked the decline and the close was dull, close to the opening figures. The day's business was 29,000 shares. Final changes are pretty evenly divided, with probably a small ma-jority of declines. Richmond and West Point is per cent lower tonight.

Exchange weaker at 48(@489. Money easy at 3@4 closing offered at 22. Sub-treasury balances: Coin $130,577,000; currency $19,407,000. Governments[dull but firm; 4s 126%; 8s 100%. State bonds dull but 25,744 15,034 12,222 ..4,783,483 NEW YORK, February 25—C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton futures today, say: A fairly steady opening this morning was followed by considerable firmness, owing to moderate interior receipts and quite full reduction of stocks. Offerings were not made with any degree of freedom, and buyers had to bid the market up to supply wants the close being quite steady at two points above yesterday. Transactions in March were again the leading feature, some 25,000 bales changing hands.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Move Grain and Produce. Special to The Constitution.

Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, February 25—There were a good many buying orders for wheat at opening on change this morning and May wheat, which started at 77%c, rose sharply to 78% notwithstanding cable advices were indicative of weakness. Private cables reported declining markets and these brought out free offering, under which the market broke off scan to instill decrease hat railed to 78%c on good. again to inside figures but rallied to 78½c on good buying for export and closed at that figure. Dealings from three Atlantic ports were 121,000 bushels. Receipts at eleven points aggregated 255,000

Corn was dull but steady. The receipts were small and the shipping demand continues good, especially for lower grades. The market closed firm. 1/4 to 3/4c higher than yesterday.

Oats ruled slightly easier without developing any speciol features of interest.

There was a tremendous speculation in mess pork. Offerings were fair at the opening and a few sales were made at the decline of 5 to 10c, but fell back 20 to 25c several times and closed at 42% to 45c higher than ou yesterday.

THE FIRST WARD SCHOOL .- In the debate The First WARD School.—In the debate in the board of education upon the establishment of the First ward school, Mr. Blanchard stated that he had no doubt but that the children were there, and had as little doubt that they did not care to send their children to school; but that he had been assured by the kaders of the movement that they would make we first to fill the school and hence he would an effort to fill the school, and hence he would was strongly in favor of a judicious expendi-ter of the money; of treating all sections of the city fairly, and of building up the public shool system of the city to its highest point of development.

REVENUE AFFAIRS.—United States Deputy Marshal W. J. Abercrombie and Deputy Collector Baugh went into Campbell county day lefore yesterday and seized a 90 gallon copper till, cap and worm, 1,700 gallons of beer, a lot distillery furniture and some tools. The water of the distillery scented danger from tar, and made good his escape, ere the raiding party arrived. Revenue Officers Carter, ware and Godfrey made a raid upon a big illeit distillery near Pine mountain, in Rabun county. A 95-gallon copper still, cap and worm ounty. A 95-gallon copper still, cap and worm were captured; also, some 1,200 gallons of beer and a lot of implements, jugs, etc. James N. Billough and L.O. The defense was opened by Mr. Robert L. Sibley, apprightly lawyer from Atlanta, who came with Lanier, for the purpose of assisting in the defense. Mr Sibley labored under great disadvantages, in bot being present during the investigation of the winesess throughout the entire examination, as beenly arrived here on the last day of the trial and had to accept the testimony already rendered libehalf of his client. Mr. Sibley, however, went stone in medias res, and exhibited a clear continue in medias res, and exhibited a clear cononce in medias res, and exhibited a clear con-dimension of the salient points of the case, which he monstrated to the court in a forcible and lucid incr. Mr. Sibley is a pleasant and impressive aker, and withal a cultivated and clegant gen-man, and is a true type of the warm and impul-advocate, peculiar to the south.

A PECULIAR CASE.-Yesterday Judge Van https://disposed of a pendiarly later string case. A colored preacher, named filters, sued the Crystal Fount Lodge of Saminan Bnothers and Sisters for damages. Peter McMurray, Smith Easly, M. Cargile and external others, prominent members of the odge, were in the court room. In addition to have there were a great many other colored ectators who watched the proceedings with interest. Gilbert alleged that he was a member of the said lodge; that, although he had lived a pure and blameless life, yet the most serious harges derogatory to his reputation had been nade; that he had been accused of the evilest tharges deregatory to his reputation had been made; that be had been accused of the evilest practices and the most debasing habits were stribed to him by the defendants; that the members of the lodge conspired to expel him from the body to avoid paying him sick benefits. Gilbert also claimed that certain members of the lodge made speeches spainst him charging that his sickness was attributable to an immoral course of living. The lodge, in solemn conclave, decided to suspend him for five years. The case was tried under dimerrer which, among other things, raised the question whether a member of a lodge, who had not been turned out of the lodge, could see the lodge. The defendant's coursel chimed that a sait could not be brought spainst the lodge when Gilbert had gone through all the trials that the by-laws of the lodgerquired. Messrs, James R. Whiteside and Rote Smith argued in favor of the demurrer, and Colonels Fry and Broyles insisted that the declaration had example in it to institute the reclaration had example in it to institute the declaration had example in it to institute the and Colorels Fry and Broyles insisted that the declaration had enough in it to justify the smit. The Goldberg Concert. Last night a large audience assembled to

Last night a large audience assembled to times the performance given by this really taltited family. Although they are amateurs, they make a performance which would do credit to many professional companies.

Little Miss Rebecca Goldberg, in her personation of the dude and the flower girl, was much admired, and Master Jesse Goldberg was the favorite with the audience in his tenor solos, and received several encores. Mr. Sol Goldberg's bone solo was smalered the best ever seen on the stage, with everal very difficult imitations, and in fact, the soldberg family are wonderful, and deserve the maise which they received last night. The great leating of the programme was a recitation by little liss Julia Manufing, which was the surprise of the strong. She was applauded several times, and reflect fin a wonderful manner. She also sang still fasa's song, "Little Johnine Horner," with meat effect, and was compelled to repeat it three fines. Miss Mande Stokes also recited in a chacming way, which gave her a good mark.

The performance closed with a duet by Master the play's the thing, wherein I'll reach the coversions of the bias."

And equally true is it that Dr. Pierce's "Pleas-ard equally true is it that Dr. Pierce's "Pleas-art Pugative Pellets" (the original Little Liver fills) are the most effectual means that can be used to reach the seat of disease, cleansing the lowels and system, and assisting nature in her tenperative work. SPARE THE TREES.

SHALL AMERICAN FORESTS BE

Mr. Sidney Root, Who Attended the Foresty Couven-tich, Talks about His Trip—He Marshalls Some Facts and Figures—A Visit to Ex-Prosi-dent Jefferson Davis at His Home.

Mr. Sidney Root, one of the Georgia delegates to the Southern Foresty convention, at De Funiak Springs, Fla., has returned to Atlanta. He is chokeful of enthusiasm about his trip and talks entertainingly about the convention. Yesterday afternoon a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION met Mr. Root and asked:

"Mr. Root, I believe you were a delegate to the late Southern Foresty congress, at? De Funiak Springs, Fla. What about it? What

"Yes, Governor Gordon kindly made me a delegate, with several other excellent men, to represent Georgia at De Funiak. Of the twelve who were appointed, but three delegates were present-Hon. C. R. Pringle, (speaker of our house of representatives) M. M. Folsom, of Macon, and myself—one of whom at least, Mr. Pringle, did full credit to his state. Seventeen states were represented, and the United States government sent down the chief of the foresty bureau-Mr. Fernow, a very learned man in the tree business, who gave us more information about Syliva culture than we ever had

"How was that?"
"First, that the saw mills of the country, with their present capacity could condemn every foot of mercantile timber in Georgia in twelve months, and seemed that while we were destroying our trees as fast as our axes could work, the people of Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Wisconsin and other western and nothern states were planting many millions northern states were planting many millions of firsh trees—to repair the useless waste in our own country. Even in old Scotland the Duke of Athol has planted on his estate of 18 000 acres, 27,000,000 Scotch larch trees. This is one of the most lyaluable of trees for building purposes, and I am going to try to propagate them in Georgia.

"How are you going to reform this matter?"
"Public spirited people all over the state, slarmed at the probable destruction of our forests and the consequent desolation of the country, has organized two great societies, the American Forestry congress, which includes Canada, and the Southern Forestry congress,

Canada, and the Southern Forestry congress, which held a recent session at DeFuniak. "These societies propose to, dist, influence the general government to protect the forests on the public lands, to plant trees on the government reservations, and to collect and diffuse information for the general welfare; second, to arouse a sound public sentiment among the people of the different states, and secure legislation to prevent the wholesale slaughter of our own forests. The state of New York now appropriates $35,000 annually to protect the trees in the Adirondack region and prevent the daying up of the Hudson river, In Germany over 2,000 books have been published on this subject, and Spain, Italy, France and Germany have special schools supported general government to protect the forests on and Germany have special schools supported by the state for giving instruction in this matter."

"Anything else?" Why, I could talk for a day on this subject, "Why, I could talk for a day on this subject, but I will only say that the next annual meeting will be held in Huntsville, Ala., and in about two years an international congress will be held in Atlanta. By the liberality of a Kentucky delegate Mr. Pringle's admirable address will be published. Trees for all the states and territories were planted at De Funiak. The Georgia tree was dedicated by President Pringle to the prepary of Gavernor. President Pringle to the memory of Governor A. H. Stephens, and a special tree and olive was by request dedicated by myself to Henry

"Did you see Mr. Davis during your trip?"

"Yes; I had been often invited to visit Mr.
Davis at Benuvoir, and while I was in Mobile I found I could run over there and return in time for our meeting. It was an extremely inter-esting and pleasant visit. In my day I have known many great men in America and in Europe, but I do not recall any one who has so impressed me as Jefferson Davis."

"How is his health?" "Well, he is 78 years old. His campaigns in Florida and Mexico, his work in the war office under Pierce and his imprisonment in Fortres Monroe, have left their marks on him; but he attends to a vest correspondence with much greater skill than you or I could," "What about Miss Winnie?"

"What about Miss Winnie?"

"Miss Winnie came back from her triumphal nothern tour while I was there, bringing Dr. and Mrs. Emory, of Syracuse, N. Y., with her. She is certainly one of the most charming young women I have ever seen."

"What of Mr. Davis's financial condition?"

"That is a matter about which I instituted no inquiries, but from an artist from Richmond. who was rainting his portrait. I got the inpurse.

was painting his portrait. I got the impression that he was comparatively poor. The estate at Beauvoir is simply a residence on the edge of the gulf, and is absolutely unproductive. He has the Brierfield plantation. on the Mississippi, which, last year at least, hardly supported itself, and I doubt if he has any invested funds. Of course, with the company he has, etc., his yearly expenses must be heavy. But I conjecture that it would not be pleasant to suggest anything like pecuniary assistance He is one of the most gentle, high-bred, cour-teous and accomplished men I have ever seen."

on Local Rates.

Captain John T. Stocks, the veteran coal desler, was found yesterday by a Constitution reporter, in a very perplexed state of mind. Said the captain:

"Have you seen or heard of anybody that understood this interstate commerce bill?"

The reporter admitted he had not, and asked the captain for a reason for his questioning.

"I have just received a telegram from the freight agent of the Cincinnati Southern railroad, informing me that no rates on coal will be made by that road until the interstate combe made by that road until the interstate com merce bill goes into effect, which event is set for some time in June." "Will that bill interfere with the coal rates?"

asked the reporter.

'That's what I can't tell, and I haven't found anyone who can enlighten me on the subject. Even the agent evades the direct question."

"Do you think that the tariff will be increased on the long haul?"

"I don't understand the bill at all, but judging from the tenor of this dispatch, I should think an increase is anticipated."

The tour of Miss Davenport through the south seems to be a triumphal one. The papers everywhere show the highest appreciation for the star, for her company, and for her great play, "Fedora." The Montgomery Daily Dispatch of last Wednesday says of her appearance in that

"What magnetism Miss Fanny Davenport mus; possess, to draw out such an audience on such an untoward night, as greeted her at the theater last evening. The play was Sardou's masterpiece, "Fedora," Miss Davenport appearing as the splendid but unfortunate princess of that name, with Mr. J. H. Barnes as leading man, in the character of "Toris Ipanoff."

Mr. J. H. Barnes as leading man, in the character of "Toris Ipanoft."
Fedora" is a story of Russian intrigue and French cunning. There are no mean or insipid characters or lines in it, but it is thrillingly brilliant and almost intensely realistic in every part. The star was superb in her acting and presence, and her costumes were simply splendor itself. Miss Genevieve Lytton, a strikingly handsome woman, shone almost as brightly as Miss Davenport, and received great applause. Mr. Barnes was very fine, while the balance of the 'company did each his or her part in most excellent style."

As Miss Davenport will appear Tuesday in As Miss Davenport will appear Tuesday in Shakspeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," we reproduce the following from the New York

It was pleasant to see and it is pleasant to record the return of Miss Fanny Davenport to the field of Shakspearean comedy. Her luxuriant beauty and her opulent attire made the performance a luxury to the eye, and her airy mischief and expertness of raillery made it enjoyable to the sense of merri-ment and humor.

Safe, Sure, and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has sofully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Perus Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the function of muscles, nerves and skin.

A Pointed Way of Speaking.

There is a terse and pointed way of speaking that bears the impress of honest conviction, particularly when such conviction is uttered respect ing certain commodities whose market value never ing certain commodities whose market-value never fluctuates, and whose consumption never decreases, save with a corresponding decrease of human suffering. We speak thus pointedly about Humphrey's Homeopathe Specifics Nos. 1 and 7. They are used by thousands for coughs, colds and sore throats with the most triumphant success. No one should permit coughs and colds to destroy their health or lay the foundation of diseases when they are so easily and pleasantly curgd.—Exchange.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

NEW YORK, February 25.—The stock market today, while on a higher plane than yesterday, was much less active, and other feverish fluctuations in most of the list were confined within extremely narrow limits. The news of the day was unimportant. The opening was somewhat irregular but generally firm, recording advances ranging up to Spercent, after half an hour's activity. Trading for the rest of the forenoon was moderate with con-stderable weakness in early dealings, Richmond and West Point being prominent in the deeline. Several slight advances were followed later by de clines of the entire list, but in the last hour strength in Eric preferred checked the decline and the close was dull, close to the opening figures. The day's business was 290,600 shares. Final changes are pretty evenly divided, with probably a small majority of declines. Richmond and West Point is 1½ percent lower tonight,

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Mevement in Grain and Produce.

CHICAGO, February 25-There were a good many CHICAGO, February 25—There were a good many buying orders for wheat at opening on change this morning and May wheat, which started at 77%c, rose sharply to 78% notwithstanding cable advices were indicative of weakness. Private cables reported declining markets and these brought out free offering, under which the market broke off again to inside figures but railied to 78%c on good buying for export and closed at that fours. Deal buying for export and closed at that figure.
ings from three Atlantic ports were 121,000 but Receipts at eleven points aggregated 255,000

Corn was dull but steady. The receipts were small and the shipping demand continues good, especially for lower grades, The market closed firm, ½ to %c higher than yesterday. Oats ruled slightly easier without developing any special features of interest.

There was a tremendous speculation in mess pork. Offerings were fair at the opening and a few sales were made at the decline of 5 to 10c, but fell back 20 to 25c several times and closed at 42/2 to 41c higher than ou yesterday.

Lard ruled easier but finally closed 21/4c per hundred pounds higher than yesterday. Short ribs

closed 21/2c higher.	1.72

AN ATLANTIAN IN MISSISSIPPI.-The Mean News has the following of a well known At at torney who recently visited Meridian to defend the man Lanier, who was arrested to defend the man Lanier, who was arrested here and carried back for trial:
The defense was opened by Mr. Robert L. Sibley, applishly lawyer from Atlanta, who came with lanier, for the purpose of assisting in the defense. It sibley labored under great disadvantages, in not teing present during the investigation of the winesses throughout the entire examination, as be only arrived here on the last day of the trial und had to accept the testimony already rendered in behalf of his client. Mr. Sibley, however, went at once in medias res, and exhibited a clear conception of the salient points of the case, which he demonstrated to the court in a forcible and lucid manner. Mr. Sibley is a pleasant and impressive peaker, and withni a cultivated and elegant gentleman, and is a true type of the warm and impulbreadvocate, peculiar to the south.

The prisoner is committed for trial, which will occur in July next, when Mr. Sibley will return for the defense.

Fanny Davenport. The tour of Miss Davenport through the south seems to be a triumphal one. The papers everywhere show the highest appreciation for the star, for her company, and for her great play, "Fedora." The Montgomery Daily Dispatch of last Wednesday says of her appearance in that city:

"What magnetism Miss Fanny Davenport must possess, to draw out such an audience on such an untoward night, as greeted her at the theater last evening. The play was Sardou's masterpiece, "Fedora," Miss Davenport appearing as the spiendid but unfortunate princess of that name, with Mr. J. H. Barnes as leading man, in the character of "Toris Ipanoff."

Mr. J. H. Barnes as leading man, in the character of "Toris Ipanoft."

"Fedora" is a story of Russian intrigue and French cunning. There are no mean or insipid characters or lines in it, but it is thrillingly brilliant and almost intensely realistic in every part. The star was superb in her acting and presence, and her costumes were simply splendor itself. Miss Genevieve Lytton, a strikingly handsome woman, shone almost as brightly as Miss Davenport, and received great applause. Mr. Barnes was very fine, while the balance of the 'company did each his or her part in most excellent style."

As Miss Davenport will appear Tuesday in

As Miss Davenport will appear Tuesday in Shakspeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," we reproduce the following from the New York

It was pleasant to see and it is pleasant to record the return of Miss Fanny Davenport to the field of Shakspearean comedy. Her luxuriant beauty and her opulent attire made the performance a luxury to the eye, and her airy mischief and expertness of raillery made it enjoyable to the sense of merriment and humor.

Safe, Sure, and Speedy.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Perus Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the function of muscles, nerves

A Pointed Way of Speaking.

There is a terse and pointed way of speaking that hears the impress of honest conviction, particularly when such conviction is uttered respecting certain commodities whose market value never fluctuates, and whose consumption never decreases, save with a corresponding decrease of human suffering. We speak thus pointedly about Humphrey's Homeopathic Specifics Nos. 1 and 7. They are used by thousands for coughs, colds and sore throats with the most triumphant success. No one should permit coughs and colds to destroy their health or lay the foundation of diseases when they are so easily and pleasantly cured.—Exchange.

A MANAND WIFE

WHO OCCUPY CELLS IN THE CITY PRISON NOW.

connolly Notified That a Man and Woman of Georgia Pacific Train are Wanted in Alabama for Murder—He Sends an Offi-cer Out to Arrest Them.

Burke Emory and Emma Emory, man and wife, occupy separate cells in the city prison, where they were placed yesterday afternoon by orders of Chief Connolly. The man is wanted in Anniston, Ala,

Just before twelve o'clock yesterday an Atant gentleman entered the city prison, and calling Chief Connolly aside, said:
"I have just come in from Anniston, and on the train following me are two negroes, man and wife, named Emory. The man is wanted in Anniston for murder, and if you will send a man out on the Georgia Pacific train until he meets the incoming train at Chattahoochee river, he can catch them both without any trouble. If they ever get to town they will be hard to catch, as they are well posted.'

The gentleman then gave the chief an accurate description of the pair. Patrolman Hitson was at the prison and was at once ordered to was at the prison and was at once ordered to catch the outgoing train and arrest the parties if he could find them. The two trains met at the river, and in a minute after they came alongside of each other the officer sprang upon the incoming train. Immediately after the train started Patrolman Hitson went through the cars, looking for the man and woman. In the second-class coach he found a pair suiting the description, and walking up to them said to the man:

the man:
"Hello, Burke. How are you?" The officer was not in uniform and spoke in such a manner as induced the negro to think that he had met an old friend. "I can't recall you," said Emory after some

"Well you ought to know me, Burke," said "Spects I ought, but I don't," said the negro.

"Well, Burke, I want you," said the officer, feeling satisfied that he had the right man.
"Your name is Burke Emory and I have a warrant for you." "No, you's mistaken, boss," said the negro;
"my name ain't Burke Emery. My name is John Burke."

"All right, I'll take charge of you," said the officer, drawing a pair of handcuffs from his pecket. "Hold out your hands, both of you."

"I don't see what right you have got to arrest me on a train."
The officer paid no attention to the negro's profest, and in a few seconds had the man and wife chained together. He then took a seat near by and watched them until the train reached Atlanta. At the union passenger depot the policeman and the prisoners were met by the chief and the gentleman identified agree and they were conducted to the circuit is on. the matter. The gentleman identified agro and they were conducted to the circison, searched and locked up. At the property both denied the name given them, but without accomplishing any good. Immediately after the key was turned upon the pair, Chief Connolly sent a telegram to the chief of police at Anniston, asking him if the negroes were wanted. Late last night an answer was received asking the chief to hold the negroes until an officer could come for them.

The negroes decline to talk, further than to say that they do not know for what they have
